funny, and impetuous Irishman named Gerry. The scene in which the camera slowly zeroes in on Kennedy in her bathrobe, singing of “bad boys” while spraying glitter on her hair, is pure camp. Jan 18, 2012 Holly Kennedy was born on April 20, 1983 in the suburban town of Brookline, Massachusetts. She was named after her mother's aunt, Marilyn Monroe. She is one of two children. Her father, Kenny Kennedy, a sports writer, has a successful career and is based in San Francisco. Kennedy's mother, Ann Kennedy, who comes from a long line of doctors, is an art teacher and volunteer librarian in her native town. After attending the Phillips Academy, Kennedy attended Vanderbilt University, where she graduated in 2006 with a degree in Theater Arts. A year later, she married Gerry Butler, whom she had met at university. They moved to New York City, where she appeared on the Broadway musical drama The Light in the Piazza. The couple had their first child, Charlie, in October 2008. They welcomed a second child, Dakota, in February 2011. However, Kennedy was a major disappointment for Broadway theatre producers, who gave up on her after one poor season. In 2004, she co-starred in the drama Rags, which opened at the Brooklyn Academy of Music. The following year, Kennedy starred in the crime drama Servant of Two Masters. The year after that, she played the role of Donna in the musical The Gershwins' Porgy and Bess. While her career as
