I had to set the timeZone using: TimeZone.setDefault(TimeZone.getTimeZone("America/New_York")); System.out.println(TimeZone.getDefault()); It returns something like: sun.util.calendar.ZoneInfo[id="America/New_York",offset=0,dstSavings=0,useDaylight=true,transitions=1,lastRule=null] If I run the same code from the application server, it returns the following: sun.util.calendar.ZoneInfo[id="America/New_York",offset=0,dstSavings=2,useDaylight=true,transitions=0,lastRule=null] This behaviour is explained here (see second answer): I have checked the system property set by my application server to my custom timezone (America/New_York) using the following code: System.out.println(System.getProperty("user.timezone")); It returns "GMT-05:00". And the system looks like it is GMT. This is the log for the application server: 2019-01-15 15:06
