There are free and commercial VPN accounts that offer unlimited usage. With this service, you can request for a temporary VPN address. For example, if you want to test a new service, you can also use it while traveling, the access to these services will be protected by the proxy. Each provider has certain servers. For each server, there is a unique subnet mask. The allocation of these servers is ongoing. Since the DNS may refer to different servers, a DNS leak can occur.
