Q: Is it possible to send files through Google Search Appliance using the search feature? We have recently installed a GSA but have not yet been able to figure out how to search for documents stored on the GSA. It seems that we only get to search for folders within the GSA and not for the documents. Is there any way to find these documents? I have also seen documents located on the GSA but when we tried to find them nothing was found.

A: Unfortunately it looks like this is not possible. Our GSA is a bit newer than yours, and as far as I am concerned it does not provide access to its document repository.

Q: Call an action method from another controller in MVC I am new to MVC. I am in the process of creating a template. I am using razor view engine. I have a JavaScript file(main.js) where I am adding a form and a submit button inside. I have a controller TestController.cs. `public ActionResult Index() { //returns home view }` So if I click the submit button in the main.js it will have to call the Index method of TestController and display a data. So can any one tell me how do I call that action method from javascript?

A: You can't just make a call to the index() method of TestController. You have to wrap it in a form with method POST. Then you can use jquery to fire the submit function `testControllerIndex() { $.post('/Test/Index', {}, function (data) { alert('data:'+ data); }); }` And in your controller, you can return a result from the Index method `public ActionResult Index(string searchstring) { return Json(data, JsonRequestBehavior.AllowGet); }`

Friday, February 22, 2013 Facebook is offering a refund if your kids use it Now it's time for the debate: Should you let your kids use Facebook? Facebook, a social media platform that allows users to keep up with friends and relatives and share thoughts and ideas, is now offering a $5 refund if your kids use it. In return for the refund, you need to agree to help your kids understand how harmful it can be. You don't actually need to use Facebook to receive the refund. When your kids use Facebook, you can share messages with friends to encourage them to use Facebook responsibly. You can also share your thoughts and share your kids' posts. "Once a kid has used Facebook, you want to make it as easy as possible for them to share their thoughts and experiences on their own. The more you can do to make sure they're using Facebook in ways that are safe and beneficial, the better it will be for them," said a Facebook spokeswoman. It's not that hard to keep kids off of Facebook. There are plenty of websites out there to block Facebook. Here's how you can do it on Facebook. 1. Click the 'Settings' button at the bottom right corner of the Facebook page. Then, click the 'Privacy' tab at the top left corner of the Facebook page. Click the 'Safety' tab. 2. From the top menu bar, click on 'Ads.' Then, click on 'Ads Settings.' 3. Set the option to 'Always Notify' (the box next to 'Your ad experiences' will be checked by default). Set the option to 'Never Notify' (the box next to 'My ad experiences' will be checked by default). 4. Click 'Save Changes' to save the settings. Unfortunately, there are also plenty of ways to trick your kids into using Facebook. Here's how you can avoid it: 1. If your kids use a mobile phone, they should use Facebook on their phones. It will make it easier for them to stay away from it on their computers. 2. Don't let your kids join any Facebook groups or pages. 3. Teach your kids to be safe on the Internet. Set limits on what they can do on the
