sum(int a, string b, int c) I want it to work in such a way that if  $c > 1$  then add a value to b and repeat the same thing for  $c > 2$  and so on. I would like to know how can this be done with the function sum only, without other functions, just that, I don't want other things. A: If you are using C++11, you can use a lambda for this:

int sum(int a, std::string const& b, int c) { //... return a + (lambda() { return sum(a,b,c-1); })(); }

The above assumes that `sum(a,b,c-1)` returns a value that can be added to a. If you are using C++03 or earlier, I'm afraid you're stuck with recursion. You will need to specify the return type, as well as the return value. The environment: effects on mice and men.
